New York Wants to Get the Old Hartford.

The board of education of the city of New York has asked the Secretary of the Navy to turn over to that city the old wooden steam frigate Hartford, that won undying fame as Admiral Farragut's flagship during the war of the rebellion, to be used in place of the state schoolship St. Mary's. Large sums of money have been expended in modernizing the armament and equipment of the gallant old ship, and now, despite its sixty years of service, it is in fairly good condition. It is now in commission and does duty at Annapolis in connection with the practical instruction of the midshipmen at the Naval Academy. It is extremely doubtful if the Navy Department would agree to give up the ship, and at any rate it could not do as requested without a special act of Congress.

Portsmouth Peace Conference Tablet. Naval officers are planning to place a bronze memorial tablet on the facade of the building at the navy yard, Portsmouth, N. H., in which the treaty of peace between Japan and Russia was negotiated and signed. Rear Admiral Mead, commandant of the yard, has the matter in hand. Jap-anese and Russian officials have been asked for a few pieces of copper and silver and copper coins from those countries for mix-ing with the metal for the tablet.

Examination of Gunners at Fort Myer Maj. Gen. Wade, commanding the Atlantic division, at New York, has appointed Maj. D. J. Rambough, Capt. Ernest D. Scott and Second Lieutenant D. C. McDonald, all of the Artillery Corps, a board to meet at Fort Myer, Va., early in May, to conduct the examination for gunners of the 3d and 4th Batteries of Field Artillery at that post.

Prospective Naval Paymasters. Next Tuesday the Secretary of the Navy will designate the candidates who will be authorized to appear at the Washington navy yard June 11 for examination for appointment as assistant paymasters in the navy. There are twelve vacancies in the corps and many applications have been received. The list of approved candidates as yet is not a long one but, of course, it may receive additions up to the date of exami-

Assistant Military Surgeons.

The preliminary examination of candidates for appointment as assistant surgeon in the army will take place at some twenty different places throughout the country next Tuesday. There are fifty-seven applicants who have been advised of their permission to appear before the boards and there are twenty-nine vacancies in the junior grade in the medical department. Those who pass the preliminary examination will come to Washington in the capacity of contract surgeons and will take a course of instruc-tion at the Army Medical School. Upon passing the final examination these contract surgeons will be commissioned as first lieutenants and assistant surgeons in their order of merit.

Joint Army and Navy Medical Board.

The report of the joint military and naval board to establish uniformity of equipment and unification of system between the medical corps of the navy and the medical department of the army has made its report. The report recommends a new first aid package and makes other sugges-tions of more or less importance looking to the better co-operation of the two medical branches. It has also recommended that the army medical equipment be used by the A very swell vehicle—best green or blue cloth navy in land expeditions. The report awaits the action of the President.

Commended for Life Saving.

Secretary Bonaparte has written a letter to E. M. Morrow, fireman, first-class, of the U. S. S. Perry commending his "prompt and brave act" in rescuing from drowning a small boy who fell overboard from the gangway of the Perry at San Diego, Cal., on the 11th instant.

Bural of Gen. McMahon.

Quietly and without ceremony the remains of Maj. Gen. Martin T. McMahon, a distinguished volunteer soldier of the war of the were laid at rest in a humble grave in the national cemetery at Arlington last Tuesday just as the sun was sinking behind the hills. Gen. McMahon entered the army as a captain of California volun-teers in October, 1861, and was honorably mustered out as a major general of volun-teers in February, 1866. He was brevetted for gallant conduct in the Richmond cam-paign and for distinguished conduct in the battle on the Vaughn road, Virginia, and was awarded a medal of honor for having voluntarily rescued a valuable train that had been abandoned and was covered by the enemy's fire at White Oak Swamp, Va., in June, 1862. He died in New York city last week, and funeral services were held in St. Francis Xavier's Church in that city in the presence of a large and distinguished congregation, including many of his comrades in the civil war.

Going to the Mecklenburg Celebration By direction of Maj. Gen. Wade, commanding the Atlantic division at New York, Troop G, 13th Cavalry, at Fort Myer, Va., will proceed in due time to Charlotte, N. C., to take part in the Mecklenburg celebration to be held at that place May 21, 22 and 23

A company of marines and the Marine Band will also go from this city to Char-lotte to take part in the celebration, as will two companies of regular infantry from Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, Ga.

Periods of Military Instruction. Gen. Grant, commanding the Department of the East, at New York, has issued an order saying that for the troops serving in the United States the period from November 20- to April 30 and from August 1 to 15 is designated for indoor practical and theoretical instruction, and the period from May 1 to July 31 and August 16 to November 19 for outdoor instructions and field training. For the district of Porto Rico the district commander will designate an equal amount of time for garrison training and for field training for the troops of his command having in view climatic and other local con-

Must Have Two Pairs of Shoes. The Secretary of War was recently asked if enlisted men were required to keep two peace. He ruled as follows: "It is the intention that each enlisted man should keep on hand two pairs of marching shoes in time of peace, and the new clothing order places both pairs of marching shoes in the initial clothing allowance, thus enabling both to be drawn at the beginning of the service without hardship to the soldier." Acquitted of Criminality.

general court-martial, which convened Henry M. Andrews, Artillery Corps, was ent and Capt. Charles W. Castle, Infantry, was judge advocate, found that First Lieut. William E. Mould, 18th Infantry, had duplicated and hypothecated his pay accounts, as charged, but "attached pay accounts, as charged, but "attached no criminality thereto" and therefore acquitted the accused. The court accompanied its findings with the statement: "In reaching this finding the court desires to express its conviction that, due to the incidents of the service, the sanity of the accused has been and yet remains so impaired as to render him incapable of forming criminal intent."

a court-martial has convened at the navy yard. Norfolk, for the trial of Lieut. John A. Schofield, commanding the torpedo boat Winslow, for alleged neglect of duty in connection with mishaps to that vessel, including running aground on a recent trip from New York to Norfolk. Capt. A. V. Wadhams of the Norfolk navy yard is president, and Capt. E. E. West, U. S. M. C., of the judge advocate general's office, is judge advocate of the court.

MR. BRENNAN EXPLAINS. Says He Proposed Going on Barnes'

Bond. to a Star reporter last evening that the criticism about Mr. Barnes having taken steps to secure bondsmen for himself as city postmaster before his confirmation, and even while he is supposed to be under and even while he is supposed to be under investigation, is unjust to Mr. Barnes, "As a matter of fact," said Mr. Brennan, "I am responsible for the bonding business myself. Mr. Barnes and I have been intimate friends for years, and as soon as I knew of his nomination I called him up on the telephone and volunteered, with some business friends of mine, to go on his bond. This was before there was any publication about an investigation of the Minor lication about an investigation of the Minor Morris incident by the Senate committee. This explanation has nothing to do with the Minor Morris case. That is another matter. I was only endeavoring to be friendly to an intimate friend, and do not want that friend to be unjustly accused of premature activity in arranging official matters when I alone was responsible." PIANO MEN TO MEET. Associations of Manufacturers and
